1. Expansion of Inner Worlds

Sung Jin-Woo divided the creation of these new inner worlds between his original body and his seven clones, ensuring balanced growth across his divine manifestations.

Original Body

Creation: Four new inner worlds.

Total Inner Worlds: 35 inner worlds.

Time Dilation: Each world maintained the dilation of one second outside equals one million years inside, allowing for unfathomable acceleration of development.

Purpose: These worlds served as incubators for new races, celestial armies, and divine tools, further establishing his supremacy.

First and Second Clones

Creation: Two new inner worlds each.

Total Inner Worlds: 21 inner worlds per clone.

Time Dilation: One second outside equals one million years inside.

Purpose: These clones focused on strategic growth, developing forces capable of defending and expanding Sung Jin-Woo’s multiversal influence.

Third, Fourth, and Fifth Clones

Creation: Five new inner world each.

Total Inner Worlds: 6 inner worlds per clone.

Time Dilation: One second outside equals one million years inside.

Purpose: These clones specialized in exploring uncharted dimensions and creating experimental realms to expand the limits of Sung Jin-Woo’s divine knowledge.

Sixth and Seventh Clones

Creation: Three new inner world each.

Total Inner Worlds: 4 inner worlds per clone.

Time Dilation: One second outside equals one million years inside.

Purpose: These clones acted as guardians and stabilizers, ensuring the integrity of Sung Jin-Woo’s realms and providing reinforcement where needed.

2. The Inner Worlds’ Design

Each of the new inner worlds was meticulously crafted, reflecting Sung Jin-Woo’s creativity and divine will:

Flawless Ecosystems: Every world contained unique biomes designed to foster specialized life forms, ensuring sustainable growth.

Vast Armies: These worlds housed centillions of shadow soldiers, celestial beings, and mythical creatures to support Sung Jin-Woo’s campaigns.

Divine Artifacts: Legendary weapons, armors, and tools were forged within these realms, waiting to be wielded by the most deserving warriors.

Universes of Knowledge: Some worlds served as repositories of divine wisdom, storing secrets of creation, destruction, and manipulation of reality.

3. Purpose of Expansion

Sung Jin-Woo’s decision to expand his inner worlds stemmed from his ambition to:

1. Solidify His Power: By increasing the number of inner worlds, Sung Jin-Woo ensured his continued dominance as the most powerful entity in existence.

2. Support His Clones: The additional inner worlds provided his clones with the resources needed to carry out their divine missions effectively.

3. Prepare for the Future: As the multiverse evolved, Sung Jin-Woo anticipated greater challenges and opportunities, necessitating further growth.

4. The Multiverse’s Reaction

The creation of these new inner worlds sent ripples across the multiverse. Beings of all realms felt the surge of Sung Jin-Woo’s power, reaffirming his status as the Supreme God.

Worshippers across the Temples of Shadows and Life intensified their devotion, sensing the divine growth of their God.

The Divine Triad acknowledged this monumental achievement, with Ashborn and Sung Su-Ho offering their praise.

The Duo Dragons, Sung Ye-Jun and Sung Ye-Rin, viewed this as inspiration to further develop their own powers and domains.

5. Sung Jin-Woo’s Declaration

From his throne in the Umbra Citadel, Sung Jin-Woo addressed his followers and allies:

“Creation is limitless, and so is our potential. With each new world, we bring forth life, power, and purpose. Let us continue to rise, for the multiverse is ours to shape.”

The multiverse resonated with his words, as Sung Jin-Woo’s legacy as the God of Shadows and Life and the God of Creation and Abundance grew ever brighter.
